

01 Communique Files a Patent Infringement Lawsuit against Citrix Systems, Inc.

TORONTO, ON – February 2, 2006 – 01 Communique Laboratory Inc. (TSX: ONE – www.01com.com), a leading remote access solutions provider, today announced it has filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court, Northern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, against Citrix Systems, Inc. (Nasdaq: CTXS), of Fort Lauderdale, Florida alleging infringement of U.S. Patent No. 6,928,479. The alleged infringing products include, but are not limited to, Citrix GoToMyPC®.

“We have a responsibility to protect our intellectual property and will aggressively enforce the protection of our patents,” said Mr. Andrew Cheung, President and CEO for 01 Communique. “We believe very strongly that competition should be based on innovation and respecting intellectual property rights.”

01 Communique is represented in this matter by the law firm of Baker & Hostetler LLP.

The patent relates to a system for providing remote access to a personal computer on the Internet from a remote personal computer. Additional information regarding the patent is available on the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office Web Site at www.uspto.gov.

About 01 Communique

Established in 1992, 01 Communique is an innovative force in the development and delivery of remote access services and integrated communications software. As the digital and wireless economy evolves, 01 continues to provide cost effective and reliable solutions that give businesses anytime, anywhere access to information stored on a desktop PC. 01 Communique has built an extensive market for its remote access, messaging and communications solutions with its I'm InTouch remote access solutions and legacy product line COMMUNICATE!, through the cultivation of solid distribution channels and marketing partnerships.

For more information visit www.imintouch.net or call (905) 795-2888

- ### -

Company contact: Mr. Brian Stringer
Chief Financial Officer
brian.stringer@01com.com
(905) 795-2888 ext. 204