» I'M-IN-TOUCH ACCESS SERVICE

Do you feel disconnected from friends, family, and cyberspace in general when you go on assignment without your personal computer? If so, take heart. There is a solution that can save you from lugging your stationary model or copying your files to a laptop. With the I'm-In-Touch service, you may access your PC from any computer or wireless device with an Internet connection. Moreover, you can run programs already on your home system, transfer files, and transmit documents directly to a nearby printer. Plus, not only are you able to manage your Outlook e-mail from another site, but you can also receive wireless notification of new messages. The desktop edition is available at www.imintouch.net for $99.95.
